A NOMADIC PERIOD. 1840--41. Mt. 20--21. From Bromsgrove, on 27th July, I wrote home describing specifically the nature of the task thus suddenly entered upon. I am engaged in superintending the pulling-down and re-erection of a large bridge under the inclined plane at Bromsgrove. It is to be completed within three weeks and four days from the commencement of the pulling-down, and rather more than one week has already passed. I have had to make out the drawings, estimate, and c, and to see to the details of the work during its progress. . . . I believe it will be done in time. The contract is between one and two thousand pounds. A subsequent letter, written after the completion of the new bridge, says: -- You quite mistake as to the usual system of work on railways. The greater proportion of the work done at the bridge was by contract, and I had nothing to do with the men except to see that they did the company justice. All the timber work and fitting and fixing girders was, however, done by day-labour under my own instruction. Perhaps about half the cost of construction was in this case done by me and entirely after my own designs (Capt. Moorsom not interfering in any way); but this was an extreme case and the usual laws were broken through: day-work being strictly prohibited on this railway. I had forgotten the fact named in this...
